

Social challenges Faced by Estate People during the Covid 19 period: A Sociological Study-based on St. Margret Estate

A. Dhevayani^{1*}, A.R. Asraj Ahamed²

^{1,2} Faculty of Arts and Culture, South Eastern University of Sri Lanka

*Correspondence: asrajzaak97@gmail.com

Abstract

Covid- 19 has had a massive impact on all factors of human life. This is becoming a huge challenge to the lives of all people. Although many research have been published in this regard no research has been published on the challenges faced by the estate people during the covid 19 period .This research has been carried out in a way that completes the research gap. The aim of this study is to identify the challenges faced by the estate people during the covid 19 period. . It is explored mainly through three topics. Those are the economic challenges, social challenges and psychological challenges faced by the estate people during the covid 19 period. For this purpose, quantitative method was used, and St. Margret estate was selected as a sample. In the purposive sampling technique, data were collected from and St. Margret estate people who faced problems during the covid 19 period. Observation method, unstructured interviews and Focus groups discussion were used as data collecting techniques. Data were analyzed based on public feedback and data. The results showed the social problems, economic problems, psychological problems faced by St Margret people during the covid 19 period. This research identified the economical challenges as loss of jobs, barriers of products' marketing system, Disgrease products. Futher, social problems are lack of Social interrelationship and lack of education. Finally, this research finds out the problems such as stress, fear and anxite.

Keywords: Covid-19, Chllenges, Esate people